

BlackSTEEL

Finished Rods

The Black Steel Series redefined the entire Seeker Rod Company. It is the result of market demands and great innovation. In an answer to the ever growing composite rod market, the Black Steel combined the best design elements of the traditional E-Type fiberglass rods with aerospace technology's use of carbon fiber. What was created was an exceptionally durable fishing rod blank capable of handling the most extreme pressures and the demands of the Southern California sportfishing fleet. In 2010, the Black Steel line was revamped. The company chose to upgrade the rods by changing out the stainless steel wire guides with a state of the art solid titanium quad footed guide. These guides are designed with Ring-Lock technology, protecting the hardened rings by encasing them in solid titanium. Each rod is hand wrapped and is protected by a multi-coat finishing system. They are second in line only to our own Super Seeker series when it comes to construction, components, durability, and performance. Black Steel is for those fishermen who expect to land the fish that they hook!
