TOOTHY CRITTER TIE-ABLE STAINLESS STEEL LEADER

Chasing after pike, muskies, bluefish and barracuda requires specialized tackle. Even the toughest gear is useless against those razor sharp teeth unless you are fishing with a leader material that can stand up to the task. Cortland Line Company introduces Toothy Critter, the finest tie-able stainless steel leader material available for fishing. Aply named, Toothy Critter is tough as steel (because it is). A leader material that is supple enough for tying but tough enough for even the most razor sharp teeth. Conventional knots work fine.

Toothy Critter is available from Cortland Line in break strengths of 10, 20, 35, 50, 70, 90 and 120 lbs., and in lengths of 10 and 30 feet.

MICRON® FLY LINE BACKING

Backing serves three important functions:

- (1) Fills spool to allow faster retrieval.
- (2) Eliminates tight curling inside the fly line.
- (3) Provides a margin of safety when a special fish takes out all your fly line. Cortland backing has a low stretch factor, eliminating the danger of building pressure which might freeze the reel. Micron's small diameter allows more yardage on the reel. Micron's white color will not discolor the back section of the fly line.

Because large saltwater fly reels require greater amounts of backing Cortland has introduced this new backing in 300, 600 and 1200 yard spools. In addition, a special Teflon treatment has been added to protect the backing from the harsh elements in saltwater fly fishing.
